

Meeting 11 February 2016 7.15pm

Jake, Yvonne, Emma

Visited the garden to view how plants going. Observations were that corn not enjoying being in the bathtub. Potatoes harvested (hmmm!) Not impressed with YouTube! Very small crop of tiny spuds, and a bit of rot in some. Courgettes doing well, dwarf beans doing well, runner beans not that prolific. Tomatoes plentiful but still green. Questions for Hannah:

Do the beans need feeding?

What to do about the beds drying out?

Do we need to do anything to the soil, before putting in late summer planting?

Is bed no. 1 too hot for lettuce as it just bolted and wasn't good to eat at any time. Would bathtubs with good mulching be better.

What to do with our compost system (or lack of)

Seed saving, how. Would love a workshop from Hannah for our group on all things seed to seedling.

What late summer crops would be good to plant. We would like to have a regular supply of green

Emma googled and says Chard/silverbeet/beets/kale/herbs
